This is a summarized version of the principles. |
| 2 | ## 1. TECHNOLOGY FOR HUMAN AGENCY* We stand for people to be the web's primary beneficiaries of the web.* We urge coexistence and interoperability of multiple technologies and aim for peer-to-peer relationships. |
| 3 | ## 2. DISTRIBUTED BENEFITS* The DWeb is most beneficial when rewards and recognition are shared among contributors. |
| 4 | ## 3. MUTUAL RESPECT* We support clear codes of conduct to ensure respectful behavior and accountability.* We stand for open and transparent practices that pursue equity and mutual trust. |
| 5 | ## 4. HUMANITY* The objective of the distributed web is to protect human rights and empower peoples.* We condemn use of distributed tools for activities antithetical to human rights. |
| 6 | ## 5. ECOLOGICAL IMPERATIVES* We aim to minimize ecological harm and avoid tech that worsen environmental health.* We work towards reducing energy consumption and value device repair, recycling, and recovery. |

| 1 | # DWEB PRINCIPLESThese define the values of a decentralized web based on enabling agency of all peoples — the basis for behavioral norms and mutual accountability to bring about a more just and equitable world. |

|---|---|
| | These stand alongside other sets of principles that share or expand upon these values, and originate from those involved with and convened by the Internet Archive's work on the decentralized web. This is a summarized version of the principles. |
| 2 | 1. TECHNOLOGY FOR HUMAN AGENCY* We stand for technology that enables people to be the primary beneficiaries of the web, upholding their privacy, security and self-determination.* We urge coexistence and interoperability of multiple technologies, value open source code as a fundamental building block, and aim for peer-to-peer relationships.* We minimize surveillance and manipulation of people's behaviors while optimizing for social benefits and empowerment. |
| 3 | 2. DISTRIBUTED BENEFITS* The DWeb is most beneficial when rewards and recognition are shared. |
| 4 | 3. MUTUAL RESPECT* We support clear codes of conduct to ensure respectful behavior and accountability.* We stand for open and transparency in a manner that actively pursues equity and mutual trust |
| 5 | 4. HUMANITY* The objective of the distributed web is to protect human rights, and empower peoples, particularly those facing systemic inequities.* We condemn use of distributed tools for activities antithetical to human rights.* We encourage the development of tools and applications in many languages and forms to ensure accessibility. |
| 6 | 5. ECOLOGICAL IMPERATIVES* We aim to minimize ecological harm and avoid technologies that worsen environmental health.* We work towards reducing energy consumption and device resource requirements, by allowing repair, recycling, and recovery. |
